The game was announced in Weekly Shōnen Jump #2, released on August 10, 2014. It was released on November 14, 2014 in Japan and later on in North America and Europe on March 5, 2015. This was the second video game based on a Jump manga series, following 2013's Marvel vs. Capcom: Infinite. The game was also released on Xbox One and PlayStation 4, and received mixed reviews, although the gameplay was considered solid and the story was well received. Gameplay Like other fighting games, players use a set of control sticks and buttons to move their fighters and perform special moves. J-Stars Victory VS introduces an extra new control, the touchscreen. Players can move and attack by tapping various locations on the screen. J-Stars Victory VS features a number of gameplay modes, which includes: Story Mode, Arcade Mode, and a training mode for the fighters. The story mode features 2 distinct storylines, each with one character from each Jump manga series: Hōgyoku no Jōsei no Daibōken (破獄の正女の大冒険, lit. "Self-judging Fist of Judgment") and Jūroku no Seijūken (十六人の正義拳, lit. "Judgement on the Fifteen Fists"). The game's ending varies depending on whether the player plays as a protagonist or a villain. There is also a Versus Mode, which allows players to face off against another player. The player's screen is divided into four sections, one for each of the game's playable characters, that the player uses to fight in different game modes. Plot Hōgyoku no Jōsei no Daibōken The story begins with a flashback in which a young boy named Kenji Koiso was sent to live with his aunt and uncle at their rural home. He had been cursed by the Sun Goddess, Shōgen, as punishment for having killed a Sacred Tree with his spade. Kenji, who believed that he had killed the tree because he did not love it, sent the spade to the land of Forest. Now, as a young man, Kenji has traveled to Forest, seeking the spade and Shōgen. His arrival is discovered by the tree spirit and the tree, who are upset with Kenji's decision to murder the tree. When Kenji enters the forest, he is 82157476af
